REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art of record fails to teach and/or suggest a method of calculating an average value of a modulus of elasticity or an average bending stiffness of a dried wood-containing board (or lumber) (or the associated apparatus) which includes measuring the density of the board by detecting radiation absorption in the object; measuring the velocity of a sound wave propagating through the board; and calculating the average MOE or bending stiffness using the density and the sound wave measurements.

The closest prior art is that of Andrews et al. (WO 01/77669 A1). Andrews et al. teaches measuring the density and velocity of sound wave propagation in green wood (i.e. undried trees and stems) in order to determine the MOE or bending stiffness of the wood after it has been dried. There is no teaching of testing the board or product after it has been dried such that both the density and velocity of sound are measured in order to determine an average MOE or bending stiffness. Most dried lumber systems would rely on the velocity of sound test, possibly in conjunction with a shrinkage test, in order to determine a predictive MOE or bending stiffness of a board for classification purposes. As the density of a product is clearly influenced by the amount of water within the product, a measurement of density is clearly influenced by the dried state of the product being tested and would therefore alter the test results if performed at different stages of drying of the lumber.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
